Feet of Song (Erica Russell) 04'30"

Feet of Song is a harmonious celebration of dance twinned to the rhythm of African music. The beautifully kinetic movements presented by abstract human forms highlights the bright influence African arts provides to world culture. This animated piece presents its ideas through the art of dance, derived from the phrase "Feet of Song" from the language of the Dan people.

Triangle (Erica Russell) 08'30"

Through the blend of African and Brazilian themed music and a variety of artistic styles, Triangle tells a story of the passions of young lovers through a film full of dance and movement.

SOMA (Erica Russell) 04'30"

SOMA is a film that deals with the effects of post-modern urban culture such as dislocation, fragmentation of identity and violence. The work finds its inspiration from street culture: dance, graffiti and particularly from the work of New York artist Basquiat.
